Senator Carpenter is very sincere in what he is trying to do and possibly this might be done at a later date. I think primarily what we are doing now is giving one man in the Department of Agriculture arresting agency and primarily they are thinking of animal disease control. Along with that also, the theft of cattle is involved, but also this department can work with other law enforcement agencies and when it comes to the theft of cattle we have our state brand inspectors who also have arresting authority and can make investigations on cattle theft. I think primarily they want this man to work with the other law enforcement agencies we're adding more staff to the highway patrol, they have special investigators and they get involved at times, so I think maybe at the present time that we should hold this down to the figure we have on the A bill, they're primarily thinking only of one man, this involves an automobile, special radio equipment and things like that. If at a later date we need to enlarge on this I think we can, but I think for the present time we ought to more or less stick to what the bill is calling for.

SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes Senator Nore, then Senator Keyes.

SENATOR NORE: Mr. President, fellow members, just a short, take a minute or so, I wasn't here Friday when LB 201 was discussed but I did hear a little of it on T.V., I'd like to give some testimony. Last year the sheriff and one of these investigators drove into my yard and I wondered what I did know, and he asked me how many heifers I brought over to Burwell. I told him I bought an even hundred. So he said let's go into the pasture and count them, so we counted them, we had 99. He had this heifer spotted twenty five miles away and I got the animal back, so I'm very much in favor of Senator Kime's LB 201.

SPEAKER: The Chair recognizes Senator Keyes. We are discussing LB 201A.

SENATOR KEYES: Yes, Mr. President I'd like to ask a question of Senator Epke. Senator Epke in the game commission we are going to make certain members of that policemen, in the agriculture department we are setting down now to make certain members of that policemen, we are adding two new branch of the highway patrol and making them policemen of something else, would you be against making the health department several people in that end of the category into policemen to police drugs because surely those who come into the health department, the doctors there, know who the ones are that they are treating for drug addicts, and they may be able to find out in their own intricate way who is a pusher and so do you think they, in other words are we doubting the police, the officials, the law enforcement agencies of this state so much that we are going to make every department a police agency over it's own?

SPEAKER: Senator Epke do you care to respond?

SENATOR EPKE: Senator Keyes, I think there are department that do have personnel that has arresting agencies, and I can't specifically name them, but I know that there are, that I stated the other day when we discussed 201, I'm against giving arresting powers to too many people in the different departments, but here is something that's a little bit different. Department of Health goes out and inspects a place, that place is going to be there, it isn't on the move, when you're thinking of livestock they're on the move, they're on a truck and they are moving interstate, there are very few of our law enforcement agencies that know the regulations that cover the movement of livestock, and I'm talking about animal disease control primarily. I think we have an all together different situation, I don't think you can compare it to someone in the health department, or in some of these other agencies.
